

Certain areas cannot support fully operational stations to provide the desired content. Translator stations allow multiple regions to get the same content at a reduced cost, which is great for non-profit stations that do not rely on advertisers, but are rather listener-supported. Taking away translator service will reduce the quality and variety of broadcasts that I have come to expect.